

Beach Olympics

A mix of crazy, engaging team-based challenges ideally suited to the beach. These include using metal detectors to find hidden objects in the sand, filling water containers to land flying whirlybirds unharmed, navigating through a beach minefield, building crazy boats to float a person or object on the water and of course we would never forget using beach balls in a hysterical team race...

Can be used as an initial team event or as an activity that is part of a program to anchor the key messages around your conference outcomes.

Teambuilding highlights There is a very high level of participation, fun, competition and integration.

- Level of involvement and rivalry stays high right throughout the program from beginning to end
- The program can be customised to fit time frame
- Includes inflatable mascots and theming options
- Great way of breaking down barriers and building team camaraderie

Fun in the sun How it works

Classic and new ideas are adapted to design an energetic program that promotes interaction.

- Three-Legged Race - Competitors from each team are nominated to take part in this three-legged relay.
- Giant Sack Race - Using large sacks there will be individuals in each who must cover 50 metres.
- Egg & Spoon Race - Competitors from each team are nominated to take part. Run as a relay – each guest covering 50 metres.
- Beanbag on the Head Race - Each team nominates team members to compete in this race over six heats.
- Wheelbarrow Race - Think wheel barrows, balls, and a good eye!
- Obstacle Course - The course can involve Hula Hoop, Bat and Ball, Hurdles, Tyres and Coconut shy to name a few.
- Welly-Wanging - How far can you hurl a welly?
- Finale - Ohh, the Finale! Choose either Giant Sand Sculptures or our classic Catapult Launch, where team vs. team have to launch an egg from a hand made device...

"I want to thank you and your crew for a great afternoon with the team. I spoke to the majority of people at the dinner and all had lots of fun and found the activities a great way to end the conference... Please pass on my appreciation to your crew and once again thanks very much for a terrific afternoon. A lot of comments were along the lines that it was the best team building activity they had taken part in and would love to do it all again." MundiPharma
