

Mole

who can uncover the mole? An activity with a cataclysmic twist!

Teams race against the clock to build an exact copy of a Block model construction.

This simple task is complicated by a huge revelation that there is a Mole in the room whose task is to sabotage their construction efforts.

Yes, the Mole is a highly trained mole who will do just about anything to put your team out of the race to win the competition.

Sabotage, What will your team do to counter the Mole?

Do they know the Mole's methods of sabotage? How will they stay ahead of other teams to win the challenge?

In order for teams to remain in the competition and be proficient in their construction they must counter the work of the Mole.

This activity has a huge impact on your conference agenda not just for its hilarious moments but more importantly for what it teaches.
