

Movie mayhem

This superb corporate package allows your staff to dress in costume, apply make up and create a fun short movie that copulates key aspects from the business.

Your teams will be taught by a professional camera director on how to deliver their lines, be schooled in the art of cinematography and the adaption of a story, and even be involved in scripting the film.

It's a fun, exciting and rewarding workshop that results in a short movie, presented at an awards ceremony and captured on DVD that you can use at appraisal time!

Did you ever fancy yourself as Austin Powers, James Bond, Superman, or a Godfather? If you want to stride towards the camera, deliver a memorable one liner, shoot up a bar room or take part in a fast-moving Western brawl. Now you can!

The package:

- The program is not location dependent
- Participants of all levels of physical ability can join in
- Not weather dependent
- Fully-tailored to suit your company's requirements
- A two part program that takes care of the evening headaches...
- Both the day's movie-making and the evening event are interactive

Totally creative, hilarious and memorable! The concept of the program is simple! With coaching and guidance, teams are required to film a movie/commercial in an allotted time frame. The teams direct, produce, act, film and incorporate core points. Using the props provided the teams have different genres and titles, thus creating a balance.

What sets the program above any other program, is the flexibility for the organisation outcomes and objectives. These may include strategy, conference theme or strategy, individuals or new products etc.

All packages are external of audio visual hire / professional equipment, venue hire and fees.
